

Contactless Print.

As establishments begin to re-open and welcome back customers, merchants are going the extra mile to ensure their customers feel safe and secure in this new environment.

Take advantage of this downtime to consider upgrading your point-of-sale printer to one that supports contactless printing.

Citizen POS printers feature a full or partial guillotine cutter, allowing guests to safely take hold of their receipt with no contact to the printer.

Contactless interactions keep the health and safety of your employee and guests as top priority.
